TRIAL INVOLVES GREAT NAMES OF GERMAN COURT.

Prominent in the Round Table Scandal.

Prince von Moltke, former German Ambassador to Vienna, and one of the foremost nobles of the court, is the man whose name has been most frequently mentioned in connection with the alleged excesses of Count von Helldorf.

Count von Helldorf, editor of the Die Zukunft, for libel, Field Marshal Count von Helldorf-Haeseler, and Prince von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, are to be called as witnesses, and the Kaiser, himself, may be asked to take the stand to show why he suspended a number of prominent officers of the court. The plaintiff, von Moltke, has been earnestly urged to drop the suit against the editor in order to avert further scandalous revelations, but has stubbornly refused.

TREACHERY.

Plot Against Navy Stirs French Nation.

What Is Characterized as Second Dreyfus Affair Develops in Arrest of Hebrew Ensign, Who Is Said to Have Made Confession.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All France is stirred by the revelation of an alleged plot against the French navy, which resembles in many respects the alleged Dreyfus case.

In fact, the journals here are characterizing it as a second Dreyfus affair, as Ensign Charles B. Ulmo, confessed traitor, now under arrest, is a Hebrew.

Ulmo was in possession of information, which, in the hands of a foreign power, might have made the French navy practically useless in case of war, or led to its destruction. Ulmo's arrest at Toulon yesterday and his confession of having abstracted a secret naval signal book, and the naval cipher code, was followed today by the arrest at Toulon of an officer named Berton, who is charged with negotiations with an agent of a foreign power for the sale of military secrets.

It appears that Ulmo offered certain documents to the Minister of Marine for $20,000, saying that unless his confession was accepted he would sell them to a foreign power. A dummy correspondence was begun, ending with Ulmo's capture. A search of his lodgings revealed that he not only possessed the secret code signals, but was in possession of a complete plan for the mobilization of the French navy, the location of harbor mines in the event of war, photographs of the mechanism of France's famous seventy-five millimeter field guns and other valuable information.

DISCUSSED BY DEPUTIES.

The case of Ulmo and Berton added importance to the debate, which opened in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon on the questions regarding the state of national defenses in connection with the charges made in the book entitled "Are We Defended?" recently published by Charles Humbert, a former captain and staff officer of former War Minister Andre, and the magazine article on the same subject, of which Gen. Langlois is the author.

In Capt. Humbert's book he charges that the border fortifications are as valuable as so much cardboard.

Deputies Gauthier and Lantier, who brought up the questions in debate, spoke at length of the disorganization of the French navy, citing statements made by both writers and contending that this deplorable condition of affairs was the result of anti-military propaganda and political favoritism introduced since the days of Gen. Andre.

Gen. Picquart, Minister of War, made a warm defense of the army, denying all allegations. The chamber almost unanimously voted confidence in the government and devotion to the army.

HIS FATE IN BALANCE.

Case of George Mackown, Charged With Arson at Webster City, Iowa, Goes to Jury.

WEBSTER CITY (Iowa), Oct. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The case of George Mackown, charged with burning Webster City's $100,000 felt shoe factory, went to the jury tonight. No verdict is looked for tonight.

The instructions were fair, but quite favorable to the defense, especially if Mackown's alibi is believed.

Interest here is intense, and all through the closing hours of the case, the courtroom was packed and people stood in every available space. Mackown was captured last July at Bakersfield, Cal., after a four years' search.

COURT NAUSEATED BY ROUND TABLE TRIAL.

Justice Keern Announces He Will Hear No More Disgusting Testimony.

Arguments Will Begin Today in Count von Moltke's Suit Against Editor Harden—Violent Passion Shown on Both Sides—Prince Eulenberg Refuses to Come to Court—Compared With Babylon and Sodom.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Outcry begins to be heard. This leaders of the conservative military press against the publication of the sordid details of the Moltke-Harden trial. They clamor for the exclusion of the press from the courtroom. They are fighting, they say, for public morality.

But the question naturally springs to the lips, would these dragons of public virtue be so insistent were, say, Herr Bebel or Herr Dinger, the Socialist leaders in the Reichstag, sitting where the Kaiser's adjutant is now sitting and charged with the same offenses?

As the trial progresses, the pictures revealed are more and more nauseous. It is small wonder that the people are comparing the rottenness of much of German society with Sodom, Babylon and ancient Rome.

The third day of the trial showed the same tense feeling, the same load of currents of electricity, the same terrific energy on the part of the defendant (who is practically the accuser) the same bitterness on the side of the plaintiff.

REPUTATIONS DESTROYED.

Neither side is particular as to what weapons it employs or what reputations are dragged in the mud, so long as it can score.

Editor Harden, during the proceedings today, lost his temper, and, having his hand in fury toward Moltke, yelled:

"Does he still deny that a member of the royal house told me that Von Moltke would be mad if he tried to resist the charges?"

Justice Keern asked Von Moltke if he had resigned his position on account of the publication of Harden's charges.

Von Moltke said in reply that they had been such a mountain of lies piled up against him that he felt he could no longer remain military commander of Berlin. He said he had worn the Emperor's uniform for forty-two years and loved his career. He begged the court to take the rule of his career into consideration when he passed sentence upon Harden.

HAS HEARD ENOUGH.

Justice Keern closed the taking of testimony at the end of today's proceedings, saying that he had heard enough to reach a decision. What that decision in His Honor did not intimate nor will he until he has listened to the argument of counsel on both sides tomorrow.

Counsel wrangled today for hours about the Frau von Elbe. Von Moltke seems determined to call witnesses who will show her indictment of his alleged disgusting conduct. He will not directly say that he holds her guilty of perjury, but he will seek to minimize the effect of her evidence by showing up certain antecedents alleged to be not to his credit. The thirst for revenge, not desire for justice, is at the bottom of such tactics.

EULENBERG'S TACTICS.

What can be said of Prince Eulenberg's tactics yesterday, when a former trooper of the Life Guards alleged that Eulenberg had participated in certain loathsome orgies at Potsdam? Shaken somewhat in cross-examination, the trooper said he would like to see Prince Eulenberg face to face before swearing as to his identity. Eulenberg was accordingly summoned to appear this morning, despite a medical certificate that he was confined to his bed. But his physician appeared in his stead today to say he had forbidden the patient to leave his bed.

The court then dispatched the trooper to Eulenberg's town-house in company of a police officer, to see Eulenberg and say whether or not he was one of the men who figured in the Potsdam orgies. Within an hour the trooper and the policeman returned and informed the court that Eulenberg had declined to let the trooper see him.

This caused an enormous sensation, which kept the court buzzing for five minutes. Eulenberg said he would face the trooper only in the presence of the court, but this timely excuse was not satisfactory even to the prosecution.

TREACHERY TO FRIEND.

What are we to think of this Prince, this pattern of knightliness, as people thought him, who allows his friend of forty years' standing, who called him his "life" and his "soul," to stand under such terrible charges without coming to say a word in his favor?

People say, "If the Prince is innocent, what has he to fear? He was not too ill to travel to Berlin from Liebenburg, and he could surely drive to court."

Count von Moltke evidently is breaking down from the long strain; his nerves are giving way, his interruptions are often incoherent. He loses the thread of the subject, and stares stolidly before him, apathetic and broken.

The latter part of today's sitting was occupied, first, with a long address from Editor Harden, who dramatically insisted that Von Moltke was deprived of his post by direct intervention of the Kaiser, as His Majesty had assured himself that his adjutant was guilty. Harden spoke passionately and impressed all who heard him as an orator.

SPECIALISTS TESTIFY.

Finally came the specialists in degeneracy, who assured the court that Von Moltke was a degenerate, and that he inclined toward perverts, was by nature, without perhaps being himself aware of it. This evidence it is utterly impossible to reproduce.

The specialist subpoenaed by Von Moltke asserted a contrary view.

SLIM DIET.

PEANUTS PROVE ENERVATING.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT SEIZED WITH CRAZE FOR FRUIT.

One Week of Gopher Diet Weakens Head of Aurora University Almost to Point of Defeat—He Loses Ten Pounds, but Will Carry Experiment Through.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] AURORA (Ill.) Oct. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One week's diet of peanuts has weakened Prof. T. J. Allen almost to the point of giving up and admitting defeat.

The professor today declared he had a desire for fruit that amounted in his intensity to agony. He has lost ten pounds in weight, and his temperature has risen to 100.6, since starting the unique test.

Prof. Allen has given up his idea, that the roasting of peanuts destroys their nutritive quality. He began his fast eating unroasted gophers, but the diet made him ill, and he was forced to roast the peanuts.

He is eating two meals daily, and has been compelled to add a glass of lemonade. This he did after having been advised by physicians that he would be attacked by scurvy if he did not.

He is still in good physical condition, despite his loss in weight, and in face of his appetite for fruit, declares he will carry his experiment to the end set, which is sixty days.

Prof. Allen, who is president of Aurora College, began his fast when the Board of Health of the town was about to place its ban on peanut candy on the ground that it was unhealthy.

"QUESTIONABLE PAPER."

KNICKERBOCKER SAID TO HOLD BAD CHECK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hinting at an evil condition of affairs in the Knickerbocker Trust Company, Atty.-Gen. Jackson asserted today that there was in the vaults of the institution an illegal check for $1,000,000.

He said that after the company had been put in the hands of the acting superintendent of banks, a man had gone to the examiner and had tried to obtain that "questionable paper," but his request had been refused.

The man who had made that application, the Attorney General said, had been mentioned to him by the counsel for the institution as an excellent man for the receivership. The Attorney General was spurred into making his statement by criticism aimed at him by directors of the Knickerbocker. They spoke in anger on finding that Jackson had gone to Staten Island early in the day and had made application for the appointment of receivers for the Knickerbocker.

He had given the directors no intimation whatever of his move, and they were surprised when they learned that Justice Clark, sitting in Richmond, had appointed as temporary receivers Otto T. Ryan, president of the New York Trust Company, Ernest Thalmann, of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and Henry C. Ide, former Governor General of the Philippines. Justice Clark also issued an injunction restraining the directors from touching any paper in the office of the company.

Thereupon the directors said unpleasant things about Jackson, and he replied with the statement about the $1,000,000 check. He added he had become convinced that in seeking the reorganization of the company, the directors were not working for the interest of the depositors and that he had intended to go into court without the knowledge of the directors. He had picked a court, he said, where he felt sure a proper suggestion for receivers would be accepted.

KID TEAM CONFIDENT. TO DETERMINE HIGH'S CLASS.

Experts Dope Prep Team to Defeat Occidental.

Presbyterians in Poor Shape, but Very Determined.

Collegians Have Hard Fight on Their Hands.

L. A. High and Occidental will play at Fiesta Park this afternoon, and a good game of football is expected by the supporters of the two teams. L. A. High has demonstrated its rank by holding U.S.C. to one touchdown, and defeating Pomona, 12 to 0. Occidental is the third college team to encounter the husky prep school players, and there is strong probability that Gehehen's men will go the way of Pomona.

High School, although well pleased with the defeat inflicted upon the Pomona veteran team, is not over-confident, and during the week has doubled its efforts to perfect its play. In speed the L. A. High eleven has improved a great deal in the last five days, and as the players are all in good condition and free from injuries, they should put up a good exhibition.

Occidental has made a good showing this year, having overwhelmed the Whittier State School team, and beaten Whittier College, 16 to 0. The game with L. A. High today will serve as a criterion whereby the comparative strength of Pomona and Occidental, old-time rivals, may be judged.

L. A. High will make every effort to defeat the collegians, as the team is out after a record season. Occidental also is more than usually desirous to win, and thus demonstrates its superiority over the Pomona eleven.

Coach Sorenson of the High School says his men are in better condition than they have ever been. The school has furnished the squad a training table, which Coach Sorenson says will materially benefit the members. There will be few changes in the line-up.

Occidental claims to be prepared to put up its strongest game. The conditions of McCullough, right end, the Presbyterians will start the game with every variety in his place, and it is probable that McCullough will also get in the contest before the end of the first half.

Bruce Merrill is not in the best of condition, but he will start the game at right halfback. Kellogg, who was supplanted by Earl at left guard, will begin the game at right end. He is light and fast, and the team will not be greatly weakened if McCullough is not in the play.

The Presbyterians appreciate the necessity of putting up their best game if they are to escape the fate of Pomona, last Saturday, at the hands of the High School team. Gruesome scrimmages with the second team all this week have developed the team to almost its highest efficiency, and if the Presbyterians are defeated they will have no excuse to offer.

A large crowd of Presbyterian rooters are on hand to cheer the team. The game has created as great interest among the students as any inter-collegiate game last year, and it will be a keen disappointment to every one at Occidental if the eleven goes down to defeat before the High School team.

CHANGES AT WHITTIER. QUAKERS PLAY SAN DIEGO. Coach Thompson with his squad of pickin athletes went to San Diego, last night, where the Quakers will play the strong Y.M.C.A. team, this afternoon. The San Diego game has not been scored upon this year and is somewhat of an unknown quantity, so the best team the Quakers can muster will be lined up against them.

Several changes in Whittier's line-up were tried, Thursday, with a view to strengthening the team. They worked very well against the scrubs, and in a practice scrimmage today they will be permanent. Boyle was taken from fullback and placed at his old position of left end, where he is a whirlwind, but was a little too slow in getting started at fullback.

Wells was removed from left tackle to the fullback position. He combines with his 184 pounds good strength and a fair amount of speed. The coaches think that after he gets used to the position he will prove a very valuable addition to the back field.

TRUE SPORTS.

DECIDE TO PLAY GAME WITH POLY.

SAN BERNARDINO RECONSIDERS ITS FORMER ACTION.

Up-Country High School Team to Meet Local Fifteen at Bovard Field This Afternoon—Lack of Practice Handicaps Former, but Good Contest is Expected.

The San Bernardino High School boys have changed their minds since Thursday night, and have decided to come down and play Polytechnic today, for which Rugby rooters here give them much credit. Their lack of training during the week will not do them down and, what they learned from the Castaways last Saturday is expected to more than offset the ill-effects of their rest.

The two teams should be very evenly matched and a fast and exciting game ought to result. The game is to be at Bovard Field at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Crouch, who gave general satisfaction in the San Bernardino-Castaways game, will referee. Crouch always insists on making the players put the ball on the ground the moment it is held, a very important point in Rugby.

The Polytechnic back line is not as strong as that which they took up to Redlands last Saturday. Strang has a hurt in his side sufficient to keep him off the field, and Crane is not in the best of shape, having had a bad cold for the greater part of this week.

O'Hourke and Guy Goodwin are playing well together on the right wing, and should do well when the latter overcomes his tendency to wriggle toward the goal before running with the ball, a trick taught in inter-collegiate football, but had in Rugby, as it gives the opposing forwards a chance to tackle him before he is fairly started. Crane and Maloney on the other wing are also working well together, but as both Maloney and Goodwin are comparatively new to the game, good team work cannot be expected.

and have been playing well into each others' hands in practice. Porter is back in the scrum, as he has shown up well in practice during the week. Hay, who has been playing an all-round game, is dropped for this game on account of a sore ankle. Hup, the clever little Chinese player, will be on the side-lines in case a substitute is required, only one change being permitted by the new Rugby Union rules.

AGAIN GO STAR-GAZING. SECOND CONTEST SWITH VANCOUVER.

BRITISHERS STRENGTHEN FOR CALIFORNIA GAME.

Freshmen Will Not Be Played at the Beginning of Game—Week of Rest Follows so That Blue and Gold May Prepare to Meet Stanford for Championship.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 2. (Exclusive Dispatch.) The California "varsity" will meet the all-star Vancouver team on California field, tomorrow afternoon, in the second match of the International Rugby series. Although California won the match played Wednesday, many believe that the northern team will be the winners tomorrow, owing to the advantage of having had more practice in perfecting their team work.

Both teams will present a number of changes in the line-up, especially in the back field. Coach Taylor will probably not play any freshmen on the "varsity," at the beginning of the game at least, but instead Dyer, Paul, or W. Johns will play three-quarters with H. Johns, while Schaeffer will be shifted back to half. Ashley and Northcott possibly will be given another chance in the scrum.

Several of the best Vancouver men were saved by Manager Woodward for tomorrow and the English team count upon them to do much for their team. The Vancouver eleven numbers among its members several men who are famous in other lines of athletics. Springer, wing forward, is one of the best amateur heavyweight boxers in British Columbia and is looked upon to win the championship in the coming winter tournament. Flood, at three-quarters, is a tenacious and powerful player, and holds the provincial championship in that event.

Announcement was made today by Manager Souther, that Prof. Magee has induced the faculty Athletic Committee to change its ruling forbidding university athletes to leave the campus for more than twenty-four hours, and that as a result of this the training trip to Hotel Del Monte has been arranged. The squad of about twenty men, accompanied by Coach Taylor, Prof. Magee, and Assistant Trainer Vols, will leave Berkeley the evening of November 1 and go direct to Del Monte. The next day, Saturday, November 2, the "varsity" will meet the San Francisco Barbarians in the last match before the big game.

The contest will be played on the Del Monte polo grounds, which are heavily turfed and will afford the California men valuable experience as the field at Stanford, which will be the scene of the big game, also is of turf.

The week following the Barbarian game will be spent in hard practice and training. A special training table will be conducted at the hotel and Prof. Magee expects to have the men in the finest possible physical condition, as he will have the whole week where he can watch it and enforce regular hours. Several hours each day will be passed on the field, getting accustomed to the turf and perfecting the plans. Studies are not to be neglected during this week, and the coach will set aside a certain time each day during which the men will be required to prepare the same lessons as they would have, were they in attendance at the university.

The team will leave the hotel on the afternoon of November 3 and go to San Jose, where it will pass the night, journeying to Stanford about noon the next day.

POMONA WORKS HARD. HOPE TO RETRIEVE DEFEAT. (SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.) CLAREMONT, Oct. 2. The Pomona schedule has again been revised, and the "varsity" will be shifted back to the original date, Nov. 16. The Claremonters will meet the Sherman Indians on November 3. The place has not yet been settled, but will be either at Claremont, San Bernardino or Riverside. No change has been made in the Whittier date for November 2. Coach Pierce has no outside game billed for tomorrow.

A scrappy scrimmage with the "scrubs" probably will be indulged in. In practice there has been several changes in the "varsity" line-up. "Bub" Spurgeon has been displaced at quarter by Valle, who is running the team well and is sure on catching punts. Spurgeon is practicing at Valle's end, but will be used at half in most of the games. At end the ex-quarter is especially speedy, and gets down the field fast on punts. At half he has been making wide end runs in good form.

Games is running Bryant a close race for guard, and Weinland may be given a chance at center. In place of Ranney, Fullback Rogers's absence from the game is felt. "Bill" Spurgeon is doing the bucking from fullback position, with Baird training for both half and full.

U.S.C. GAMES TODAY. "VARSITY" GOES TO SANTA ANA. U.S.C. will play two High School football teams today, one squad playing Throop at Pasadena, and another meeting Santa Ana High at the celery town. The coach will accompany the squad to Santa Ana and Capt. Haigley will have charge of the Pasadena delegation.

The U.S.C. squad of first and second team men will be divided into two teams of near equal strength as possible, with "varsity" men on both. In this manner some valuable practice will be gained, and the high school will be enabled to fill in vacant football dates.

NOTHING DELIRIOUS. HARD HITTING WINS VICTORY.

Looloos Beat Oscar Jones in Ordinary Game.

Fancy Double Plays Furnish the Only Feature.

Randolph Pitches Fine Ball After First Inning.

Los Angeles, 3; San Francisco, 4. The Looloos evidently think because it is the open season for ducks, that they can wear boots out to the ball game and expect to come out of it without falling over their feet. They have made time errors so far this week, and yet have won two games out of three, and as long as they can win, what's the use of talking about bungles?

There was nothing yesterday that would make any one think he was not at an ordinary W.C.T.U. meeting, and yet the fans had a hot time of it rooting the locals into the lead after the other fellows had piled up four large runs in the first inning. It took four hard doubles to get what was needed, and then Jones had to pass one and Zeider juggle a grounder of another.

If there was any particular feature, the long-distance assists furnished the show. Carlisle had a beauty from left field to the plate that made a double play, and Piper also had one from center that was relayed from second to third in time to catch the swift Carlisle, who was trying to make the run to third base. Oscar Jones and Randolph were the pitchers, and there was no difference in their work.

A light drizzle came with the first inning for Looloos, and this made the ball sloppy and hard to control, when you once got your hands on it. Randolph hit one man, walked another and made a wild pitch, and Delmas and Brashar threw wild, and out for these mishaps the Looloos did not have much but one run, back they piled up four very easily. After Hill-debrand was out, Piper doubled to right field, went to third on a wild pitch and was caught at the plate, when Williams bounced the ball to Delmas, Irwin singled to left, and Melchior was hit by Randolph, and the bases were full. Then Zeider hit to right, scoring Williams. Zeider started to steal to second, and when the ball was thrown down there, Irwin raced off third base, and a throw to the plate got him between third and home. He was chased back and forth for several minutes, and finally Brashar threw the ball wild and hit him in the back, and he scored. Melchior reached third on this, and Zeider went to second, and both scored when Delmas threw Streib's grounder, high over Dillon's head at first. This was all the runs the enemy could get, and for the following eight innings only two of them reached third base, and both were caught at the plate.

Los Angeles made its first run on Zeider's wild throw to first of Carlisle's grounder, which was followed by Dillon's double to center. The next run resulted from Dillon's pass, and doubles by Brashar and Ellis. The fourth and tying run was made on Bernard's single and steal. Carlisle's single and Dillon's fly to center, on which Carlisle was doubled out trying to make third after the catch. The last run started with

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

French Alliance Affair.
The source of the Alliance Francaise, to have been given Oct. 12, and postponed on account of the uncertainty of the weather, will take place Tuesday at 8 o'clock p.m. at Dobson Auditorium.

Fresno Farmer "Shy."
J. W. Shuey, a farmer of Fresno, filed his petition in bankruptcy, yesterday, in the United States District Court. Liabilities are $14,900 and assets $14,920. The failure is attributed to Shuey's inability to secure cash with which to pay off over-due promissory notes.

La Tijera Club.
The La Tijera Club has been organized at St. Vincent's College to promote social entertainment for students. Leo M. Rosecrans is president; Reed Lawler, secretary; Louis Lamer, treasurer. The club is to give a reception November 29 in honor of the football team in Kramer's Hall.

Scalped in Fall.
Ramon Villa, a Mexican, was scalped yesterday morning in a fight down a flight of stairs near Second and Spring streets. Villa slipped and fell, striking his head on sharp corner of a marble step. The stone cut into his scalp and laid it back over his head. Surgeons at the Receiving Hospital, which took back the scalp and sent Villa home.

May Die from Wound.
C. L. Macomber, a wealthy rancher of Orange county, is at the California Hospital at this point of death, the victim of a shot in the head during an argument with a hired man three weeks ago. The hired man, who gave the name of Smith, was a hobo. He worked two days, and then demanded his time. When Macomber suggested that he ought to give two days' notice, Smith became angry and fired. The bullet entered the right cheek and lodged at the base of the brain. When craniotomy was made, the patient was sent here for treatment.

Rush of Passenger Traffic.
The Santa Fe Railway is making special preparations to handle the great rush of colored passengers during the last days of the special rates from the East. The company is anticipating record-breaking travel on these last days, and in addition, the three regular overland daily trains from Chicago there will be fifty extra sleepers run from that city here until November 1 to provide accommodations for the colonists. The Santa Fe has made definite announcement that it will again place the colonist rates in effect during next March and April.

Veteran Physician Dies.
After an illness of several weeks, Dr. Harry S. Angell died yesterday at his home, No. 891 East Fifth street. He was in his seventy-fifth year, and had come to Los Angeles with his wife, who survives him, about four years ago, in the hope of benefiting his failing health. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and for many years was a practitioner in Lafayette, Ind. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the funeral chapel of the Connell Company, No. 1951 South Grand avenue, and the interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Costly Bit of Walk.
Out on Magnolia avenue there was one lot left without sidewalks when the street was improved several years ago. Recently the property owners along the street petitioned the Board of Public Works to have this break in the walks closed up, and the proceeds went through in the regular manner, just as though it was a whole street to improve, instead of a bit of sidewalk to lay. The owner probably would have hastened to append the bill of expense which came through yesterday. The work cost 14 cents per square foot, or a total of $38.26; but on top of that is piled the cost of inspection City Engineer's fees and advertising, so that this bill of $40 exceeds the actual cost of the sidewalk. The lot which has to bear this burden is lot No. 21 of the Nies tract.

Jap Progressive Leader Says Sending of Fleet to Pacific Is Not Good Diplomacy.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Dr. Louis L. Seaman, 63-year-old, United States army, who was with the Japanese forces, both naval and military, during the Russo-Japanese war, has received a letter from Count Okuma, the Japanese Progressive leader, in which Count Okuma said that the sending of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific is not good diplomacy.

"Foreign newspapers," Count Okuma wrote, "are too pessimistic. The Japanese are convinced that there will be no war. Every case like the San Francisco incident is sure to have a bad effect. I think that the trouble is due to the State's sovereignty principle in the United States. The power of the States is too great. They are too independent. The sending of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific is not good diplomacy."

GILLETTE GOES TO JAIL.

Former Vice-President Mutual Life Is Denied Bail Pending Motions of Appeal.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Dr. Walter R. Gillette, formerly vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, who yesterday was convicted of perjury and remanded to the Tombs, was denied bail in the Supreme Court today, pending motion of appeal.

TO COMMAND POLICE BROADHEAD SLATED.

Administration Programme to Put Kern at Head of Works Board and Make Anderson Chairman of New Aqueduct Commission.

JAMES A. ANDERSON, Chairman Los Angeles Aqueduct Commission. Edward Kern, Chairman of the Board of Public Works. Capt. Thomas A. Broadhead, Chief of Police, succeeding Chief Kern. Lieut. C. E. Dixon, Captain of Police, succeeding Capt. Broadhead.

Capt. Thomas H. Broadhead, who is slated to be Chief of Police.

These are the changes programmed in administration circles to take place on the first of the new year. But "there's many a slip," etc.

On January 1, Commissioner Anderson's term will expire, a member of the Department of Public Works. Mayor Harper desires to retain Mr. Anderson as chief adviser and as the leading spirit in the construction of the Los Angeles Aqueduct. With this end in view, he has proposed the creation of a special aqueduct commission, with Commissioner Anderson at its head.

Chief of Police Kern is regarded in administration circles as the most likely successor to the place on the Board of Public Works, which will be vacant when Anderson's term expires. The Mayor is well satisfied with Kern as Chief of Police, but appears to believe that he will be still more valuable to the administration as chairman of the Board of Public Works.

BROADHEAD IN TRAINING.
Captain of Police Thomas Broadhead is a prime favorite with the present administration. The Mayor's advisers assert that there will be nothing to it but Broadhead when Chief Kern moves over to the City Hall. Although a Republican, Broadhead enjoys the confidence of Mayor Harper and his Democratic commissioners. Rumor has it that the administration has Broadhead "in training" at the present time for Chief of Police.

During eleven years of service in the police department, Broadhead has gained a reputation for tempering zeal with discretion. His crusades never bring distress to the "faithful," and he has never been known to run amok. Lieut. C. E. Dixon occupies a place on the eligible list of the civil service for captain of police. Should Broadhead receive promotion, Dixon will succeed to the captaincy. He is a trained officer and has made an excellent record in the department.

ANDERSON TO AQUEDUCT.
A special aqueduct commission has been the dream of Mayor Harper ever since he commenced attending the sessions of the present advisory board. The Mayor has expressed the opinion to members of his political family that Anderson should be relieved of his duties as chairman of the Board of Public Works and permitted to spend his entire time on aqueduct work. Building the aqueduct is regarded by the Mayor as the most important work to be undertaken during the next three years.

Chief Kern has conducted the police department in a manner satisfactory to the administration, but it has been generally understood that he holds this place on a stepping-stone to the one in the department of public works. In passing through the civil service ordeal to a place as captain, Broadhead was surprised.

"Capt. Tom" expressed surprise last night that his name should be mentioned in connection with a place at the head of the department.

MAKES JEFF HIGH OFFER.

But Fighter Won't Be Slave on Stage for Thousand Dollars a Week.

The champion high price in local theatricals was made by Oliver Morosco's offer, yesterday, of $1000 a week to James J. Jeffries on condition that the champion appear in a brief revival of "Quo Vadis."

Morosco proposed to give the piece a good cast, and assign Jeff to the role of Ursus, the giant slave, who, in a spectacular conflict, rescues the Christian maiden from the horns of a bull in the arena of the Coliseum.

The offer was made in writing, but the fighter-capitalist has not replied to Morosco. He told The Times last night that on account of his business he will not accept.

TROUBLE.

SMALL JAIL. BIG CHURCH.

RELIGIOUS BODY CHARGED WITH MISDEMEANOR.

Warrants Are Issued for Officers of Pomona Organization and the Whole Congregation May Be Arrested Because Building Encroaches on Street.

Unable to crowd the Church of Christ into the Pomona jail, even if the deputy constables were able to handcuff it, they fell back upon the officers of the church and a few workmen who were repairing it.

The trouble is all due to a misdemeanor charge made against the church by G. Ward of Gordon street, Pomona, on the ground that the church takes up more room on the sidewalk than it is entitled to and won't move on when legally prodded. Not his to put the church body corporate in jail, Mr. Ward declares, through Attorney Loucks, that if necessary he will have every member of the congregation, 150 of them, arrested.

A beginning was made yesterday when warrants were issued by City Recorder John H. Lee for the arrest, among others, of such well-known Pomona citizens as H. B. Hasen, president of the church incorporation; M. C. Allen, treasurer; G. H. Waters, chairman of the official church board; Grant Pitzer, secretary of the board, and John D. Cason, one of the most prominent men in the church. Also for eighteen or twenty John Does.

Last September a petition was submitted to the Pomona Council on behalf of the church, which fronts on Gordon street, next door to Mr. Ward, asking permission for the church to remain in its present position for ten years, or until the congregation can build a new church. This petition was granted by resolution a few days later.

According to the complaint, Gordon street was surveyed and laid out in 1883 and the church was organized in 1891. But in spite of the fact that the official survey of the street was made, the church, when it came to build, projected the front of the edifice three feet out on the sidewalk and there it remains to this day.

Recently, when the cement sidewalks were put in on the street, the contractor had to "jog" around the corner of the projecting church and then "jog" back again to the city line of the road.

Meanwhile Mr. Ward protested and again protested, but the Council turned a deaf ear and the charge is now made by the opposition that the church has been "sitting on its hands" for years.

It got its petition through the Council in spite of an ordinance prohibiting the construction of a sidewalk on the city line along the same line in regard to buildings on public highways. This state law makes it a misdemeanor to maintain a building upon any part of a public highway and it is under this section of the penal code that Mr. Ward has made his complaint against the church. Ward also claims that he has been damaged in the sum of $1000 by this log in the sidewalk and the obstruction by the church of the public highway.

DEATH'S JAW GRIP SLIPS.

Venice Auto Party Overturned on Beach and Has Very Narrow Escape.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
VENICE, Oct. 25.—Out of the jaws of death, out from under an overturned automobile, a party of five, composed of men, women and a child, crawled scatheless today. It happened up Malibu way on the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Crist and baby and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Monroe, all of Venice, started this morning for a run up the shore. When they reached a point about two miles beyond Fort Los Angeles they passed over a bit of road that had been undermined by the high tide, but did not show its condition.

The road gave way and the machine tilted over and completely upset. While the wheels were still running the members of the party emerged. A man was secured, the machine was turned right side up and the return to town was made without difficulty.

BLAZING OIL ENFOLDS TWO.

Mrs. J. P. Burns and Maid May Die from Hurts.

Cleaning Skirt With Gasoline When Tank Explodes.

Big Loss by Fire and Water in Apartment Houses.

Mrs. James P. Burns, a young society matron, wife of James P. Burns, a wealthy shoe merchant, and Miss Catherine Blake, a housemaid, were probably fatally burned as the result of the explosion of a tank of gasoline at the Burns apartments in the Lawrence, No. 43 St. James Park, about 5 o'clock last evening. Little damage was caused by the fire that followed, but water poured on the blaze ruined thousands of dollars' worth of tapestries, furniture and other valuable articles in the Lawrence and the Mayfair, an adjoining apartment-house.

It is estimated that the damage to the Lawrence building was $10,000, to the belongings of tenants at least as much more and to contents of the Mayfair about $2000.

Mrs. Burns and Miss Blake were cleaning a skirt with gasoline. They had spread the garment on a kitchen table and a large bowl of the fluid stood near. Not far away was a tank of gasoline.

Unable by electric light to see what progress was made, the cleaning process Mrs. Burns suggested to the maid that she light some candles. Five of these blazing tapers were placed on the kitchen table, and both women wrapped their hands in cleaning cloths and immersed them in the bowl of gasoline. As they rubbed the skirt, the gasoline vapor arose.

In an instant there was a blaze, the bowl of gasoline flared up and almost simultaneously the tank exploded, scattering blazing oil about the room and over its two inmates, enveloping them in flames.

Miss Blake dashed to the rear porch, two stories above the ground, and leaped a human torch, and Mrs. Burns rushed into the hallway. Assistance reached both quickly and they were cared for tenderly. The kitchen was a roaring sea of fire.

The agonized screams of the women started all of St. James Park. Neighbors ran from their homes to learn the cause of the explosion and the cries for help.

Among the first upon the scene were a few who were calm enough to be of assistance. Under direction of Special Officer J. S. Hendrickson blankets were brought from a nearby house and in them Hendrickson rolled Miss Blake on the grass where she had fallen, and extinguished the flames.

H. C. Lawrence, proprietor of the hotel, ran from his apartment on the first floor on hearing the explosion and reached the second floor just as Mrs. Burns dashed into the hallway. Seizing a rug from the floor Lawrence wrapped up about the woman and her burning clothing and soon smothered the flames, not until nearly all of her hair had been burned off and only a few charred garments remained about her badly burned body. Examination by surgeons disclosed a pitiable condition. They expressed little hope of her recovery.

Wrapping Mrs. Burns in a soft quilt, Lawrence carried her to the home of Dr. Martin, No. 31 St. James Park. Miss Blake was carried into the home of E. T. Stimson, No. 325 West Adams street. Surgeons and ambulance were called but it was half an hour before the ambulance arrived to carry Miss Blake away. Twenty minutes later Mrs. Burns was sent to the California Hospital, whither Miss Blake also was sent later from the Receiving Hospital.

The greatest damage was in the apartments of Mrs. Dunbar, Burns and Frank Griffith. Water had ruined many costly pieces of furniture in all the apartments.

Seventeen families lived in the Mayfair, where Mrs. Burns lived. She heard the muffled explosion and saw the flames burst from the Burns apartment. Joined Albert Sherman, the elevator operator, in assisting people from the building, McCarthy directed a squad of occupants of the Mayfair in the operation of an emergency apparatus. Through their work the flames were prevented from communicating with the Mayfair.

"BEAT AND SOCIETY."
In the absence of Margaret C. Graham, her sister, Miss Compton read a sympathetic critique on Prof. W. Ide Thomas' "Beat and Society," before a large audience at the Woman's Club house yesterday forenoon. Frequent applause greeted the clever passages, especially those touching upon sex and primitive industry, the mind of woman, and the advantageous position of woman in the world today. The passages referring to trial marriages, a state which she said true American women refuse to acknowledge, but which has apparently been going on for sometime, were particularly well defined. The reading lasted a little over an hour.

Mrs. James D. Burns, above, and Miss Catherine Blake, terribly injured victims of a gasoline explosion.

TO WEAR GOGGLES.

Y. M.C.A. SCHOOL FOR MOTORISTS.

NEW OWNERS AND PROSPECTIVE CHAUFFEURS LEARNING.

Construction and Operation of Gasoline Engines and All Working Parts of Automobiles Explained and Simplified by Competent Instructor, N. E. Brown.

The automobile school, conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association, was opened last night with an enrollment of twenty. There are at least sixty applications from others and in order to accommodate the large number who wish to learn the mechanism of a motor car three classes are to be organized.

The first lessons, in what promises to be a very interesting study, were given last night by N. E. Brown, the instructor.

Headquarters have been established at No. 113 West First street, but a larger room will have to be secured at once. The classes are limited to twenty-five members, as it is deemed advisable to restrict the number of pupils in each division of the school.

Men who have purchased motor cars recently, others who are prospective buyers, chauffeurs, and young men desiring to enter the mechanical shops of Los Angeles, were among those who enjoyed the session last night. Instructor Brown, who has had much experience in teaching along the lines of study proposed by the association, devoted most of the evening to the outlining of the course of study.

The construction of the gasoline engine and its use will be taught. A sectional engine has been secured and the men will be enabled to study the several parts of the machinery of an auto. It is proposed to establish a workshop where instruction will be given in the building of automobiles.

The use of tools necessary in repairing will be taught. The man who finishes the course is expected to be able to keep his own machine in working order. The operation of a machine will be an important part of the instruction.

The demand for competent chauffeurs who can drive a machine, repair minor breaks on the road, and who know the entire working parts of an automobile, is great.

The desire on the part of so many to receive instruction has somewhat embarrassed the management. Letters have poured into the association from auto owners in Los Angeles, who desire to take the entire course. These will be accommodated just as soon as larger quarters are secured.

Lloyd B. Austin, who is organizing the classes, said last night that it will be necessary to branch out along larger lines at once. The popularity of the school is such, he said, that at least seventy-five will be enrolled in classes before the end of the coming week.

The arrangements thus far provide for two sessions a week, Tuesday and Friday nights. About an hour will be devoted to technical study, and an equal time to lectures and demonstrations.

ROOSEVELT-TAFT.
Sixth-Warders Enthusiastic—Large Club Formed—Meeting This Evening—Speeches.

An enthusiastic Roosevelt-Taft Club has been started in the Sixth Ward. This club, like the other Roosevelt-Taft clubs, is a distinctly Republican club, though some former Democrats have swung into line. It will have a meeting this evening at the hall, corner of Adams street and Central avenue, where Frank W. Blair and other good speakers will make addresses, showing the breadth and Republicanism of the Roosevelt-Taft movement.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY MEETS.
The Federal grand jury met yesterday afternoon for a brief session. It is believed the cases of two counterfeiters were presented. If any indictments were found, they were not made public.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Health Officer Powers' rat catchers spent a strenuous day yesterday dodging flat irons and hot water and convincing the police that they are not freight handlers.

Mayor Harper has issued a proclamation asking all citizens to join in a general municipal housecleaning today.

Councilman Wallace suggested yesterday that the city revenue be increased by raising saloon licenses from $10 to $250 a month.

Peculiar circumstances were revealed in various divorce cases on trial yesterday in the Superior Court. The trial of the action of Nattie N. Freeman against F. F. Freeman, a San Francisco attorney, consumed the entire afternoon in Department Nine, and was not concluded.

Mrs. Anna Prybyl was convicted yesterday of stealing valuables from her neighbors and was fined $80 in Justice Rose's Police Court.

AT THE CITY HALL.

MUST PROTECT FREE LUNCH.

SALOONS CLOSED TO RESTAURANT INSPECTORS.

Sanitary Corps Reports That Many Grog Shops Are Reeking With Filth—Protected by Law and Immune to City Inspection—Police Chase Rat Catchers.

Health Officer Powers sent forth nine squads of emergency inspectors and rat catchers yesterday on their thirty-day crusade against filth and waste. At the same time Chief of Police Kern commissioned a squad of plain clothes officers to gather in suspicious characters on the chance that they might be the bandits who recently held up a Southern Pacific freight. There were a number of clashes and the day proved a strenuous one for both parties.

Howitt's Second Ward squad butted into trouble right at the outset. Before they had started to work some second ward residents telephoned to the police that suspicious characters were hanging about a livery barn on San Fernando street. The police hurried to the rescue and found only Howitt and his rat catcher.

An hour later the police were notified by telephone that daylight burglars were looting a house on Boyle Heights. This time the officers found that two of the inspectors had entered houses during the absence of the owners, inspected the places and passed on.

During the day about fifty complaints were registered at the station against the intrusions of the emergency inspectors; a number of householders thought the advance agents of a band of crooks. Dr. Powers breathed a sigh of relief when the day closed with no fatalities reported and no arrests.

The health officer has appealed to all householders to aid the inspectors in the clean-up campaign. Mayor Harper has asked that all citizens join in the work of devoting a portion of this and the next three Saturdays to taking part in the municipal housecleaning.

One of the surprises of the day was the report of the sanitary inspectors that they found a number of saloons in the Second, Seventh and Eighth wards in vile condition. They reported the free lunches as unfit for dog feed.

Mayor Harper sent for an employee of the health department to ask why these places have been missed by the restaurant inspectors. Assistant Restaurant Inspector Wright said that city Prosecutor Ford had told the inspectors that the restaurant ordinance does not permit them to enter and inspect counters in saloons. Ford is quoted as saying that they must confine themselves to places where food is offered for sale, that they have jurisdiction over those where it is given away.

The Mayor expressed surprise that this error in the ordinance has been called to the attention of the Council. He said that he will send a message to the Council Monday asking that the ordinance be amended so as to cover places where food is given away, as well as those where it is offered for sale.

FOR HIGHER LICENSES.

COUNCIL GROWS RESTIVE.

Members of the Council are growing restive waiting for the Mayor to "say when" they shall take up a discussion of higher saloon licenses. Several months ago the liquor interests promised not to hold spite against Councilmen for an increase in the license, provided this increase is not greater than $25 a month.

Chairman Wallace of the Finance Committee asked yesterday that pledges for a higher license be redemmed. But Wallace asks not for a $15 license but for one at $25. He says it would be the part of wisdom for the legislators to increase the license to at least $25 a month.

Among saloon men themselves there is a division of opinion over the license question; some have expressed themselves as willing to pay $25 a month; others say that $50 is a high figure.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Woman Who Stole from Rooms of Fellow Tenants Pays Heavy Fine in Court.

Convicted of a charge of stealing dollies, lace and bric-a-brac from boarders at No. 101 East Twenty-first street, Mrs. Anna Prybyl, a tenant at that number, was fined $60 by Justice Rose in Police Court yesterday.

Sobbing bitterly, she left the courtroom, after her husband had appeared and paid her fine, thus saving her from a long sentence in the City Jail.

Mrs. Prybyl is thought by the police to be a kleptomaniac. For the past two months she has been taking small articles of value from other boarders in the house where she lived. The first theft was reported to the police as the work of burglars. A search of the work of burglars was made by led the police to believe that burglars had entered the room.

Mrs. Prybyl was caught in the act of entering a room last Thursday night. The door of the room had been left open, and Mrs. Prybyl had slipped inside, when a detective placed her under arrest.

A search of her room brought to light a suit case filled with stolen articles, including dollies, lace, hand-painted china, odds and ends from dressing tables, lace and other little articles dear to the heart of any woman.

Mrs. Prybyl explained in court that she couldn't help taking the stuff; that she saw it lying around, and that before she knew it she had taken the things and hurried to her room.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

Justice Rose that he had no knowledge of the thefts, and that he believed his wife had been acting under some strange impulse of which she had no control.

A charge of burglary was to have been filed against Mrs. Prybyl, but the police, learning that the door of the room entered by Mrs. Prybyl was open, declined to file a charge.

"This ought to be a lesson to you to keep your hands off other people's belongings," said Justice Rose to the sobbing woman. "No matter how badly you may want a thing, you should learn to let alone unless you can buy it, or some one gives it to you."

THROWS AT CAT, MISSES.

For throwing a shoe at a cat, and hitting a pedestrian in the head, Frank Aston of East Main street was fined $10 in Police Court on a charge of disturbing the peace. Aston went to bed late Thursday night. Early yesterday morning, according to his testimony, he was awakened by a cat yowling. He lives in a lodging-house which fronts directly on the sidewalk. Pedestrians passing close by, he arose, lit a cigarette and hurled one of his shoes through the window. It struck Garcia Romero, who was passing. Romero objected and Aston was arrested.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

FIVE DECREES DAY'S RECORD.

MARITAL TROUBLES CONTINUE TO HOLD THE STAGE.

Only a Quintette of Marriage Licenses Issued, While Eight Divorces Suits Are Scheduled for Today. Deserter the Principal Cause of Separation—One Woman Loses.

Five interlocutory decrees of divorce were granted yesterday in the Superior Court. Five marriage licenses were issued in the office of the County Clerk. Three actions for divorce or annulment of marriage were partly tried. Eight divorce suits, including one left over from yesterday, are scheduled for trial this morning.

Martha Zimmerman was granted a decree by Judge Hutton on the ground of desertion. There is commonly a tendency toward desertion cases, but this one proved an exception.

The marriage took place in Santa Ana, in September, 1935, and the couple had lived contentedly together for several years. Disturbing influences, however, entered into the life of the husband, according to Mrs. Zimmerman's testimony, and he decided to leave Los Angeles, where they had come to live.

"He sent me a message from downtown, August 7, 1936," the plaintiff testified, "telling me to come down and meet him. I went to the place he told me to, and waited for hours. Then he went home, and found that he had been there. He had taken $10 that was there and some of his things, and gone. There was a note there he had left for me."

"In the note Zimmerman stated that conditions had become unbearable for him, and that it was best for him to leave. He apologized for taking the money, but added: 'I need it worse than you just now.' He had not come back, and did not appear to contest the divorce."

Judge Hutton refused a decree to Esther M. Brodsky, who sought a divorce from David Brodsky, on the ground of desertion. The marriage had taken place in Spola, Russia, in November, 1934. In 1935 Mrs. Brodsky came to this country to visit her mother in Chicago, leaving her husband in a prosperous condition.

When ready to return to Russia, Mrs. Brodsky wrote her spouse for funds, and received no reply. Inquiry revealed that Brodsky had incurred the disapproval of the czar's government by some display of revolutionary tendencies, and had moved from the district where he had been engaged in business. Also, it appears, he had lost interest in his absent wife. He sent no money, and Mrs. Brodsky remained in the United States.

The court held that if there was any desertion at all, it was on the part of the wife.

William E. Schmitt secured a decree from Pearl Schmitt. They came to Los Angeles from St. Louis in the fall of 1935, and were married in the city. In the following spring Mrs. Schmitt returned to St. Louis. Her husband failed to come back.

Mollie Moulton was granted a divorce from H. Moulton because he had been convicted of a felony.

George B. Benjamin obtained his release from Grace Benjamin on statutory grounds.

The entire afternoon in Department Nine was taken up with the examination of one witness, the plaintiff, in the action of Nattie N. Freeman against F. F. Freeman. The latter, who did not appear to contest, is a San Francisco attorney.

"I had known him nearly all my life," the plaintiff testified. "We were married July 14, 1935. Five years before, we went from Sacramento, where I was born, to work in a printing office in San Francisco. I had been there six months when I met Mr. Freeman again. He was not divorced from his first wife then, but he got the divorce about a year afterwards."

"I supposed I met him a couple of dozen times in the next two years, and then we became engaged. We were engaged for a year and a half before we married."

"Soon after the marriage he began staying out at night, sometimes till midnight, but I did not notice it very much till after four years, when we stopped living in hotels and went to housekeeping. Then, when he stayed out, I was left alone."

"He went out often and stayed late, and I was left alone. I thought of other women, but I never made any effort to find out. I tried to believe he was not so."

"In June, 1935, he left home, and refused to return. I made every effort to get him to come back to me. I sent him messages, and I sent Mrs. Choice—who is Mrs. Reid now, a Christian Science practitioner—to try to get him to come back, but he would not come."

"I came to Los Angeles after the first time I wrote to him here, but he did not answer. He has done nothing for my support."

BREVITIES MENTIONED.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

the date named was through no fault of his.

ON PROBATION. Galus Edinger, one of the three boys arrested for breaking into slot machines in Ocean Park, was placed on probation for five years yesterday by Judge Wilbur. He was believed to be the ringleader of the trio. His companions were placed on probation at the first hearing.

NO DEFENSE. The taking of testimony in the trial of Henry Anderson and Christabelle Morley on a charge of arson was concluded yesterday afternoon and the argument begun. The defense did not offer any testimony.

DOUBLE CHARGES. Two suits were filed in the Superior Court yesterday by Mary A. Puttamp. In both of which she alleged that her husband, Albert Puttamp, was lured away from her. One of the suits is against Mrs. Fay Everts and her husband, L. E. Everts, alleging that the former enticed Puttamp to leave the plaintiff. The second suit is against Puttamp for maintenance. It is stated that he earns $300 a month as an architect and contractor in this city, and the plaintiff asks $100 a month.

ADIES INTESTATE. A petition for letters of administration of the estate of Chester R. Barton of El Monte, rancher and politician, was filed yesterday in the Superior Court. The petition states the value of the estate as $5,500, consisting of real estate in and about El Monte, $3000 in the bank and live stock to the value of $3000. Mrs. Alice Barton, the widow, and their children, Charles, Clifford, Conrad and Gertrude, are named as the heirs at law. The decedent left no will.

WIFE WINS INSURANCE. A decision was given by Judge Houser yesterday in the case of Louis R. Hoff and wife. The wife, Mrs. Hoff, claimed her mother, for a share in $5000 insurance on their father's life. Originally the policy had named the wife as beneficiary. After her death and Hoff's remarriage he changed the policy, giving half the amount to his second wife and the other half to his son. Later, after suffering two strokes of paralysis, he again changed the policy, making Mrs. Hoff the sole beneficiary. The sons brought suit, alleging unreasonableness of mind in their father at the time the change was made. The court decided that Hoff had been of sound mind.

BURKE ARRESTED IN ST. LOUIS ON FORGERY CHARGE.

"Hon. Col." Who Claimed to Be of the Irish Nobility and of the Federal Secret Service, and Who Alleged to Have, Runs Against a Troublesome Snag.

The self-styled Hon. Col. Edmund Burke, globe-trotter, non-vivante and member of Irish nobility, and who has been a recent guest at one of the fashionable private hotels of this city, has been arrested in St. Louis on a charge of forgery. United States Secret Service agents are on the trail of the aristocratic swindler, because "Hon." Burke on several occasions represented himself to be a member of the government Secret Service, and let others addressed to him in care of the local bureau are now in the possession of George W. Hazen, in charge of the Secret Service here.

It is believed that Burke, under another name, resided in this city some time and that he posed as a member of a noted British family.

Because of Burke's alleged connection with the government, Secret Service Operator Hazen is making an investigation of the swindler's movements prior to his emergence into the limelight at Denver. He has been traced from Vancouver, B. C., to Portland, Ore., and then to this city. At Denver, Burke engaged luxurious apartments at the Brown Palace Hotel. He became involved in a fraudulent transaction in that city and narrowly escaped arrest.

A handsome young woman, who told the police she was Miss Lillian Hall, and who is said to be a Mrs. Pfeiffer, became entangled with the smooth crook in Denver, and is said to have accompanied him to St. Louis. He was arrested at the Planters' Hotel in that city on the charge of forging the name of Robert Carroll to a check for $500. Burke claimed to be brother of Edward Burke, author of Burke's Peerage, an authority on British aristocracy. He also informed credulous persons that he had been connected with the government Secret Service in England. The Federal authorities do not care about Burke's pretensions in this regard, but they are concerned to ascertain how he planned to profit by local bureau agents with United States Secret Service agents.

The man is believed to be a dangerous criminal, who has been masquerading under various aliases. Just what his game may have been, remains to be learned. His work is somewhat similar to that of "Casper" Clover, but Burke is a man of much higher intelligence. He evidently was after high stakes when cut short in his career at St. Louis.

The International League of Press Clubs, which has been in session at Birmingham, Ala., since Tuesday, adjourned officers yesterday, and adjourned to meet next year in Seattle. Daniel L. Hart of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was elected president.

CATS CAUGHT BY FLY PAPER CAUSE COMMOTION.

ing to break up everything he could not carry off.

Mrs. Fraser was startled, but, quickly jumping out of bed and lighting a lamp, she grasped her brother's big Colt revolver and proceeded to investigate. Cautiously pushing the kitchen door open ready to shoot if needs must at a moment's notice, she saw a sight which nearly caused her to drop the lamp.

Carreering around the room, bumping into the walls, falling off the table, trying to climb the wainscoting were three cats, all tangled up in a lot of fly paper. Today they're the three worst-looking cats in Southern California. As for Mrs. Fraser, she is not yet quite sure whether a real live burglar might not be preferable to three cats in fly paper.

Mrs. Annie Fraser did not go to the Shriner's ball Thursday evening when her brother, Noble J. Hartley Taylor, and Mrs. Taylor helped along the brilliant festivities which made that occasion memorable. She stayed at home to mind the house.

Mrs. Fraser is a handsome young widow and a plucky little woman, besides, and she had no fears of remaining alone in the house, and went early to bed.

All was quiet and still upon the Eagle Rock line until shortly after midnight, and then Mrs. Fraser was awakened by the most unearthly sounds, or, rather, series of startling noises, just as though a drunken burglar had broken into the kitchen and was trying to break up everything he could not carry off.

Accidental Deaths.

Coroner's Juries so Find in Cases of Victims of Gunshot Wound and Fall.

Death from accident was the verdict in two inquests held yesterday by Coroner's Juries. In the case of Louis
Trott of No. 1100 East Thirty-sixth street, it was found he died of an accidental gunshot wound in the right leg. Trott was hunting near Sunset Beach Wednesday, accompanied by a young man. The shotgun carried by the younger man exploded, tearing a great hole in Trott's leg. He died
Thursday at the Emergency Hospital.
Trott was 36 years old, and leaves a widow. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Brown Brothers' undertaking parlors.

Ralph E. Day was killed by a fall from the Central building at Main and Sixth streets. He was employed on the eighth floor, and attempted to slide to the seventh floor by means of a rope. Midway between the floors he slipped and plunged downward to the basement of the building, sustaining fatal internal injuries.

Physicians in attendance upon Emperor
Francis Joseph have decided not to issue further bulletins, as they consider convalescence is progressing satisfactorily.

Hanan Shoes
For Men and Women

A few items of American commerce which were standard two generations ago, are as well established today. But like the "Indian who stayed converted," such instances of unfailing quality are rare.

Hanan shoes have successfully combated the oblivion of degeneration for over two generations; when Lincoln was speaking at Gettysburg, Hanan shoes were already established as the best in the land, and their quality defends the same distinction today.

FAMILY TALES OF THE TAFTS.

Father and Mother and the Three Clever Boys.

How Big Secretary of War Became Graceful.

His Acknowledgments to His Mother and Wife.

BY BRUCE W. BROWN.

(SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.)

To learn of the qualities of Secretary Taft's mother and father you have only to go to some of the few friends and neighbors still living on Mt. Auburn, the suburb of Cincinnati where the Taft family lived. They will tell you what a beat Will in an examination. The judge sent for her and presented her with a gift. "Any one who can beat Will deserves a present," he said to her.

It was usual that when anything happened at school between the teacher and the boys, Judge Taft would usually side with the teacher. A classmate of the Secretary of War tells about an incident that occurred at the Sixteenth District School on Mt. Auburn. He and Will were kept after school one day. The prospects were not promising for the chubby young Taft, Miss Cole, the teacher, called him up to her and said, "Which will you have, Will, a soft whipping or a hard one?"

"I'll take a soft one," said Will modestly.

The chastisement which followed was not in exact accord with Will's choice. He told his father about it later, and Judge Taft sent word to the teacher to give him another one if he acted that way again.

Sometimes the Judge and Mrs. Taft would go out to attend an evening entertainment, and Mike Ayimore, the faithful family coachman, would be left to entertain the boys. The evening would be spent in jolly games. Today Mike is the caretaker of a small park on Mt. Auburn. "If I'd a million dollars now, I couldn't be as happy as in those days," he declares.

A remarkable trio of boys grew up together on Mt. Auburn. Until manhood they were inseparable, going to off the bench and sent him to the far-away Philippines as head of the government commission, he told one of his boyhood friends that he was making a sacrifice in going. His old friends who have known him since boyhood say that his highest ambition was always the Chief Justiceship of the United States.

Since his work in the Philippines, the canal zone and his Cabinet positions Taft has seen little of his old friends. Charles P. Taft, residence, and the home of his father-in-law, John W. Herron, are his first visiting places when he gets back to Cincinnati. Then he sometimes wanders over to the Federal building, where his old love for the bench draws him back with the memory of happy, strenuous days spent there.

MOTHER LOVE OF ANIMALS.

Instances That Prove a Wonderful Love for Young Offspring.

Dr. Alfred Girard of Paris has been making observations and experiments to determine, if possible, what is the character of what is called "mother love" in animals. His results are much at variance with the observations of many other naturalists.

Dr. James Weir, the Kentucky naturalist, has a dog which seemed to be exceedingly proud of her puppies on their advent. She not only brought them one by one to her mistress for admiration but she also brought them to show to her master. She deposited them one by one, at the feet of the person whose regard she solicited, and after they had been admired, returned them to their kennel, after the fashion of the young human mother who thinks that her babe is the handsomest of all human kind.

Larks defend their young to their utmost abilities and often yield up their lives in unequal contests with the ravages of their nests. One summer Dr. Weir saw two jays whip, in a fair fight, a large cat which had attempted to rob their nest. They seemed to have arranged the order of combat with one another before they attacked the would-be ravisher of their home. The father concentrated his attention on the cat's head while the mother went at its back with claw and beak.

A small boy killed a snake which was in the act of robbing a song sparrow's nest. Afterwards whenever he went into the garden the father sparrow flew to him sometimes alighting on his head and at other times on his shoulder, all the while pouring out a tumultuous song of praise and gratitude.

The gratitude which could change the timid, wild nature of a bird in such a manner must have had its origin in a feeling whose depths can be fathomed only in the physical habits of the most refined of human beings.

Another example cited is the following:

A mare had been placed in a field some distance from the house in which there was no other stock. The animal was totally blind, and being in foal, was kept separate.

One night her owner was awakened by a pouncing on his porch and a continuous and prolonged neighing. He hastily dressed himself and on going out, discovered this blind mare, which had jumped the low fence surrounding the front yard and which was pawing the porch with her front feet and neighing loudly. She whinnied her delight as soon as she heard him and at once jumped the fence as soon as the discoverer laid down with a hand on her forehead.

He then proceeded toward the field, the horse jumped the fence, a low rail structure, and proceeded toward a deep ditch which extended across the corner of the lot. When she came to the ditch or gully she stopped and neighed once or twice.

The farmer soon discovered the trouble. The colt had been born that night, and in staggering about, had accidentally fallen into the ditch. He got down into the gully and extricated the little creature, much to the delight of its mother, which neighed and whinnied with joy and thankfulness by many a grateful and heartfelt whinny.

John E. Jones, an attorney of Cincinnati and a boyhood friend, tells of the school days of young Taft. "He knew every boy in school," Lubber Taft, as we called him, was a champion of the little boys, just as he was later the champion of the little men in the Philippines.

After graduating from law school Taft entered his father's law office and did some court reporting for a daily newspaper. Judge Miller Outcalt was then County Prosecuting Attorney. He took a liking to the young lawyer reporter and before Taft had had a case Outcalt appointed him his assistant in 1881.

Col. Lew Irwin was appointed temporary prosecutor to conduct the Peyton murder case, owing to Outcalt's illness. Col. Irwin characterized Taft as a man to the jury in this trial (which was his first murder case) as "The ideal beautiful speech I ever listened to."

In 1882 Taft was chosen Collector of Internal Revenue by President Arthur, because "it is said all of the applicants recommended Taft as a good second man for the place."

The young attorney throughout his early career made a hard fight against political evil. Old residents of the Fifth Ward tell stories of his fearlessness as an election challenger.

"Now boys, let the election go on quietly," he'd say when any trouble threatened. "We've been getting along well all day, let's keep it up. I want each candidate to get a square deal." He was ready, however, for real trouble, and more than once landed some big tough out in the street who had tried to take advantage.

Gov. Foraker appointed Taft to fill a vacancy on the Superior Court bench and later in 1888 he was elected to the office. This was the only time in his long public career that he had been elected to office. After the expiration of his term, he left the bench for a short time to take the office of Solicitor-General of the United States.

HIS GOOD WIFE.

William H. Taft always regarded it as one of his greatest blessings that he was the husband of Mrs. Taft. While on the circuit bench, Judge Taft was introduced to a member of the Symphony Orchestra Association (in which his wife was active), by another member, as the husband of Mrs. Taft. The lady to whom the introduction was made could not help smiling but the judge mildly censured her, saying in great seriousness:

"I regard it as a matter of great importance to be the husband of Mrs. Taft. He was greatly amused, receiving a letter at one time from an old man to whom he had paid a bill with a check signed by Mrs. Taft. In grave words the man cautioned the judge against allowing women to meddle with his affairs. Mrs. Taft continues to sign checks.

When the call came which took Taft to the Philippines as head of the government commission, he told one of his boyhood friends that he was making a sacrifice in going. His old friends who have known him since boyhood say that his highest ambition was always the Chief Justiceship of the United States.

Since his work in the Philippines, the canal zone and his Cabinet positions Taft has seen little of his old friends. Charles P. Taft, residence, and the home of his father-in-law, John W. Herron, are his first visiting places when he gets back to Cincinnati. Then he sometimes wanders over to the Federal building, where his old love for the bench draws him back with the memory of happy, strenuous days spent there.

CHAPTER XVIII.

MAXINE MEETS DIANA.

"I think so. Tell me, Mademoiselle de Renzie, did he lose anything of value near your house?"

"Great heavens, yes!" I cried. "What do you know of that?"

"I know—something. Enough, maybe, to help you to find the thing for him—if you will promise to help Ivor."

"Oh," I cried, "violently, sick of bargains and promises. You are trying to bribe me!"

"Yes, but I am not ashamed," the girl answered, holding her head high. "I have not the thing which was lost; but I can get it for you—this very night or tomorrow morning, if you will do what I ask."

"I tell you I cannot," I said. "Not even to get back that thing whose loss was the beginning of all my misery. Ivor would not wish me to ruin myself and another. Mr. Dundas must be saved without me. Please go. If we talked of this together all night, it could make no difference. And I'm in great trouble, great trouble of my own."

"Has your trouble anything to do with a document?" Miss Forrest slowly asked.

I started, and stared at her, breathless.

"It has!" she answered for me. "Your face tells me so."

"Has Ivor's message—to do with that?" I almost gasped.

"Perhaps. But he had no good news of it to tell you. If you want news—if you want the document, it must be through me."

"Anything, anything on earth you like to ask for the document, if you can get it for me, I will do," I pleaded, all my pride and anger gone.

"I ask you to tell the police that Ivor Dundas was in your house from a little after midnight 'until after one. Will you do that?"

"I must," I said. "If you have the document to sell, and are determined to sell it at no other price. But if I do what you ask, it will spoil my life, for it will kill my lover's love, when he knows I have lied to him. Still, it will save him from—" I stopped, and bit my lip. "Will you give me the diamonds, too?" I asked, humbly enough now.

"The diamonds?" She looked bewildered.

"The diamonds in the brocade bag. Oh, surely they are still in the bag?"

"Yes, they are—they will be in the bag," the girl answered, her charming mouth suddenly resolute, though her eyes were troubled. "You shall have the diamonds, and the document, too, for that one promise."

"How is it possible that you can give me the document?" I asked, half suspicious, for that it should come to me after all I had endured because of it, seemed too good to be true; that it should come through this girl seemed incredible.

"Ivor sent me to find it, and I found it," she said simply. "That was why I couldn't come to you before. I had to get the document. I did, quite know how I was to do it at first, because I had no one to help or advise me; and Ivor said it was under some flower-pots in a box on the balcony of the room where the man was murdered. I was sure I wouldn't be allowed to get into the room itself, so it seemed difficult. But I thought it all out, and hired a room for the evening in a house next door, pretending I was a New York journalist. I had to wait until after dark, and then I climbed across from one balcony to the other. It wasn't as easy to do as it looked from the photograph I saw, because it was so high up, and the balconies were quite far apart after all. But I couldn't fail Ivor, and I got across. The rest was nothing—except the climbing back. I don't know how the document came in the box, though. I suppose Ivor put it there to hide it from the police. It was wrapped up in a towel, and it's quite clean."

"I think," I said slowly, when she had finished her story, "that you have a right to get a high price on that document. You are a brave girl."

"It's not much to be brave for a man you love, is it? And now I'm going to give the thing to you, because I trust you, Mademoiselle de Renzie. I know you'll pay. And I hope, oh, I feel, it won't hurt you as you think it will."

Then, as if it had been some ordinary paper, she whipped from a long pocket of a coat she wore, the treaty. She put it into my hand. I felt it. I clasped it. I could have kissed it. The very touch of it made me tremble.

"Do you know what this is, Miss Forrest?" I asked.

"No," she said. "It was yours, or Ivor's. Of course I didn't look."

And then there came the rap, rap, of the caliboy at the door. The fifteen minutes were over. But I had the treaty. And I had to pay its price.

Weakness Blood Poison

Quickly stopped and benefited by original, very simple remedy (used by me). Every vestige of poison removed from system, not locked in, but cured to stay cured.

Allments once comparatively simple and easily curable may by neglect or unscientific treatment, so become rooted in the system that the victim will think his case one that has little hope of cure. We specially invite the most stubborn, persistent and long-standing cases, because it is in the successful treatment of these that our reputation as specialists has been made. Neglect of any chronic ailment is a crime against one's self. Our advice costs you nothing, and our treatment and charges are honest. If it should be that we are unable to give you practical benefit—a very rare occurrence, however long standing the malady—we shall tell you so frankly. Having cared you, we shall instruct you carefully how to avoid a recurrence of the trouble.
